Forecast For Northwest England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 27 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Fine and dry with sunny spells.

Today:
It will be another fine and dry day, with plenty of sunny spells between any cloud breaks. Feeling warm in the sunshine, with light winds. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining dry this evening with clear spells developing overnight. By dawn, outbreaks of rain are likely in the far south of the region. Feeling chilly under the clearest skies. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Monday:
A chilly and bright start in the north with sunny spells during the day. Cloudier conditions further south with some rain at times that may edge northwards. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Generally settled with sunny spells throughout the period and feeling warmer than of late. Outbreaks of rain are likely in the south on Tuesday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.